DAY 10: QUEBEC CITY, QUEBEC
PARTLY SUNNY 67°F / 19°C

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 9, 2011
TONIGHT'S DRESS: SMART CASUAL

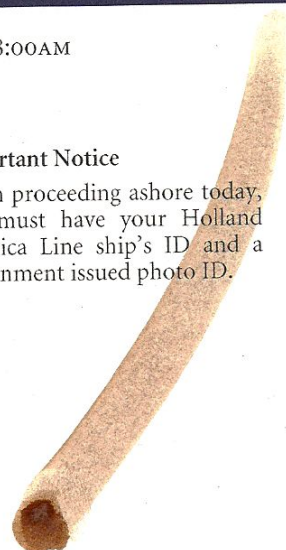

ARRIVAL: 8:00AM

Welcome to Quebec City, Quebec

Perched on a cliff overlooking the St. Lawrence River, Quebec City is the oldest municipality in Quebec Province. It was the first settlement and was home to French explorers, fur trappers and missionaries. As with any economically thriving colony, ownership was hotly contested. In this case, the French and the British both were determined to rule this prosperous area. The French and the British fought for control during the early days of New France. The French constructed walls and other military structures and had the advantage of the fort on top of the cliff. However, competing with British naval supremacy, on September 13th, 1759 the British army, led by General James Wolfe scaled the cliff and took the French troops by surprise. During a 20 minute battle on the Plains of Abraham, New France came under British rule. Despite the period of British rule, Quebec City has remained a center of French Canadian culture. Its natural beauty is world renown.
